

The German Flute Association announces its First Competition for Amateur Flutists

In cooperation with the Dr. Hoch's Konservatorium (Frankfurt-am-Main) the German Flute Association is pleased to announce a new juried competition for amateur flutists to be held on May 5+6, 2012

The competition will take place at the Konservatorium in Frankfurt. Flutists over 21 years of age who are not working (and have never worked) as professional performers are invited to participate. Music students at the university or Musikhochschule level are not eligible for this competition.

The competition categories are:

- 1) solo flute
- 2) flute and piano
- 3) flute in chamber music

In all categories, candidates shall prepare two complete works in different styles.

In each of the first and second rounds, the performance programme shall be 10-15 minutes in length.

The jury may choose individual movements from larger works for performance in the competition.

The jury: Qiling Chen, Basel – Cordula Hacke, Düsseldorf – Jürgen Franz, Hamburg – Ruth Wentorf, Freiburg/Würzburg

Candidates may bring their own pianist. Alternatively, candidates may opt to engage, at a fee, the competition's official pianist. Rehearsal times will be assigned at the competition.

The competition winners will be showcased in a concert
