Soundpainting is a sign language, elaborated by Walter Thomson, to propose a live collective creation. From this technique, I have developed a more specific vocabulary, including sounds of extended technic for flute in the XXIth century flute repertoire (pizzicato, breath sound, key clicks, tongue ram, etc.).

Is it difficult?

It's very easy and fun! It's for all level from the 2d year of practice. The whole is very playful, you can work alone or in group: a teacher can work with his students, or friends together, etc.

How can I participate?
